10-2-1961

Law School Admission Test to be given in November

University of Montana–Missoula. Office of University Relations

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/newsreleases

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the University Relations at ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in University of Montana News Releases, 1928, 1956-present by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mso.umt.edu.
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Law School Admission Test, required of applicants for admission to the Montana State University Law School, will be given on campus Nov. 18, 1961, and Feb. 10, April 28 and Aug. 4, 1962, Dean Robert E. Sullivan announced.

The test is required by most law schools and a candidate for admission must make separate application to each school he is interested in, the dean said. He advises candidates to take the test early, in November or February, if possible.

The test is prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service, according to Dean Sullivan. It consists of objective questions measuring verbal aptitudes and reasoning ability rather than acquired information, so it cannot be "crammed" for, he pointed out.

Sample questions and other information about the test are contained in a Bulletin of Information, which should be contained four to six weeks in advance of the test date from Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N. J. Completed applications must be received by ETS at least two weeks before the test date.

###