FOR RELEASE FRIDAY, JUNE 1

Dr. Horst Jarka, visiting professor at Montana State University from 1959 to 1961, will return to the MSU faculty in September as assistant professor of German, President H. K. Newburn announced.

Dr. Jarka served last year on the faculty of Commercial School I, Vienna, Austria, where he has taught for eight years. He has also taught adult education courses in English in evening schools and at the Police Training School in Vienna and German grammar at a private school conducted by the Austrian National Bank.

He is co-author of "English for Policemen" and the author of radio scripts. He attended the University of Minnesota as a Fulbright student in 1951-52 and earned a Ph. D. degree from the University of Vienna in 1955. He has a teacher's diploma from the University of Vienna and a teacher's diploma for commercial schools from the University of Commerce, Vienna.
