FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Summer workshops in "Current Problems in Nutrition," "Supervision of Student Teachers in Home Economics," and "Education for Family Responsibility" will be offered by the Montana State University Home Economics Department, Mrs. Emma Briscoe, chairman, announced.

Dr. Margaret Barkley, professor of home economics at the University of Arizona, will conduct the workshop on student-teacher supervision, which will be in session June 17 through 21. She will be assisted by Mrs. Vanetta Lewis of the MSU faculty. The workshop will stress the latest developments in home economics.

The workshop on nutrition, scheduled June 24 through 28, will be taught by Miss Fannie Etheridge of the MSU home economics staff. The course will deal with problems, research and trends in nutrition for all age groups and should be of value to elementary teachers, health and physical education teachers and personnel working with adults as well as to home economics teachers, Mrs. Briscoe said.

Dr. Robert J. Dwyer, associate professor of sociology at MSU, will direct the workshop on family life, which is scheduled July 1 through 6. Emphasis will be placed on economic, social, psychological and moral responsibilities in family life.

Details about registration and course content may be obtained from the MSU Home Economics Department, Mrs. Briscoe said.
