FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Nine additions to the Montana State University English and foreign languages faculties have been announced by Dr. Robert W. Coonrod, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Richard Drain, lecturer since 1960 in English and American literature at Groningen University, the Netherlands, will be a visiting lecturer in English. Dr. Drain was born in London, England, and holds a doctorate from Cambridge University, where he has been a part-time teacher. He is the author of "Tradition and D. H. Lawrence," published at Groningen in 1960, and of book reviews in the Cambridge Review.

New instructors in the English Department are Rosemary Boston, Edgar J. Burke, Roger J. Dunsmore and John P. Herrmann. Dr. Gerald Morreale will be an assistant professor of French; Mary Lynch and Bernard L. DuPont, instructors in French, and Dorothy Bohn, an instructor in Spanish.

Miss Boston earned a bachelor's degree at Baldwin-Wallace College in 1962 and a master's degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1963.

Burke, a 1953 graduate of Hobart College, has done graduate work at the University of Paris, in the summer of 1955, and at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1955-56. He received an M. A. from the University of California at Berkeley this year. He has been an editor in the UC Agricultural Publications Department and for Kaiser Engineers, Oakland, Calif.

Dunsmore received a bachelor's degree in 1960 and a master's in 1963 from Pennsylvania State University, where he was a graduate assistant for the past two years.

Herrmann, who will teach creative writing, holds A. B. and M. S. degrees from San Francisco State College and an M. F. A. degree from the State University of Iowa. He was an instructor in English at Eastern Montana College in 1961-62. He has edited Chrysalis Review and published poetry and stories in literary magazines.

Dr. Morreale was awarded a Ph. D. by the University of California at Los Angeles this year. He holds B. A. and M. A. degrees from the University of Rochester, and he studied at the University of Toulouse, France, in 1951-52 under a French Government Fellowship. He has taught in the Rochester, N. Y., public schools and at Brooklyn College, Middlebury College and Rutgers University.

Miss Lynch, who received a bachelor's degree with majors in French and chemistry from the College of St. Catherine, earned a master's degree in French at the State University of Iowa in 1963.

DuPont, a native of Paris, attended preparatory schools in France and did graduate work at the University of Oregon from 1961 to 1963. He was coordinator for the French Section of the National Defense Education Act Foreign Language Institute at MSU in the summer of 1962.

Miss Bohn, a 1961 graduate of the College of Great Falls, was a graduate assistant in the department last year.
