FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

H. D. Pyles, deputy chief of the U. S. Forest Service, will take part in a panel discussion of land management at a forestry conference slated Oct. 10 and 11 by the Montana State University School of Forestry, Dean Arnold W. Bolle announced.

The discussion in which Pyles will participate is scheduled Oct. 10 at 2 p. m. in the MSU Recital Hall. Other panelists will be drawn from government and private industry, the dean said. The morning sessions the opening day will feature an address by Sen. Lee Metcalf and a panel discussion on forestry education, he added.

Pyles was born in South Africa and educated at the University of California. Since joining the USFS in 1933, he has served in staff positions in engineering, fire control and watershed management on national forests in California and has headed information and education activities in the nine states of the Central Region. He took his present post in Washington, D. C., in 1962.
