FOR RELEASE WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20

Joseph Trachtman, practicing attorney and adjunct professor in the New York University School of Law, will speak on "Estate Planning Problems" at the 1963 Montana State University Law School Institute on Taxation, according to Prof. Lester R. Rusoff, institute director.

The New York tax lawyer is one of 11 experts who will participate in the institute, which will be in session on campus Dec. 6 and 7.

Trachtman, termed by Rusoff "one of the top tax specialists in the country," is past chairman of the Real Property, Probate and Trust Law Section of the American Bar Association. He is the author of "Estate Planning," which has gone through several editions, New York legal editor of Trusts and Estates magazine, and a contributor to other periodicals and law reviews.

Trachtman has addressed institutes at universities throughout the United States and has lectured before bar associations, trust conferences, insurance and estate planning councils and finance forums.

He holds an A. B. from the University of Pennsylvania and an LL. B. from the Yale Law School, where he served on the editorial board of the Yale Law Journal.
