Topics

ABSOLUTISM AND DESPOTISM IN EARLY MODERN FRANCE

“A despot, be he the best of men, commits a crime by governing according to his own sweet will. He is a good shepherd who reduces his subjects to the level of animals.” (Diderot)
THE ANCIEN REGIME

“We can see how it was that a successful revolution could tear down the whole social structure almost in a twinkling of an eye.” (Alexis de Tocqueville)

Reading: Wright, pp. 3-13
Loyseau, A Treatise on Orders
Bossuet, Political Treatise
Tocqueville up to 192, 225-256.

THE INTELLECTUAL ORIGINS OF THE REVOLUTION

“Our revolutionaries had the same fondness for broad generalizations, cut and dried legislative systems, and a pedantic symmetry; the same contempt for hard facts; the same taste for reshaping institutions on novel, ingenious, original lines; the same desire to reconstruct the entire constitution according to the rules of logic and a preconceived system instead of trying to rectify its faulty parts. The result was nothing short of disastrous.” (Alexis de Tocqueville)

THE ENLIGHTENMENT

The Revolution strayed from the primrose path of enlightened happiness to the strait and narrow road of Jacobin virtue, from the principle of representative and constitutional government to the rule of an authoritarian elite, from the ‘philosophes’ ideal of peace to the revolutionaries’ crusading war and the Napoleonic war of conquest. Nothing could have been more alien to the Enlightenment than this transition from the ideals of democracy and peace to a policy of dictatorship and war...The influence of the Enlightenment cannot be disregarded in any history of the French Revolution; but the revolutionaries did not set their course by its light in the beginning, nor did they steer the ship of state into the haven of the Enlightenment in the end.”

Reading: Wright, pp. 24-32
Rousseau, A Discourse on the Origin of Inequality
Tocqueville, 195-217
"The art of taxation consists in so plucking the goose to obtain the largest amount of feathers, with the least amount of hissing." (Colbert)

"The recent revolution would not have reached this point had the people had bread. And the people would forgotten freedom and the hope of freedom if they had been able to forget their stomachs.” (Friedrich Schulz, Über Paris und die Pariser)

“How though the reign of Louis XVI was the most prosperous period of the monarchy, this prosperity hastened the outbreak of the Revolution.” (Alexis de Tocqueville)

Reading: Wright, pp. 14-23
Turgot, Endowments
Parlementary Remonstrance
Tocqueville, pp. 217-224

STRUGGLE BETWEEN KING AND PARLEMENT

“The story of the resurgence of the French nobility is first and foremost the story of how the high robe was to demonstrate its power to obstruct the monarchy and win general recognition as the indispensable defender of privileged interests.” (Franklin Ford)

“It is astonishing that nowadays it is thought fitting to treat as founded the absolute power of the prince, without hearkening to the testimony of thirteen centuries during which we see the kingdom established solely by the blood, the labor, and the expenditures of the old nobility.” (Boulainvilliers, Lettres sur les anciens parlements de France)

Reading:
Louis XV, The Session of the Scourging
Louis XV, Desist
Malesherbes, Remonstrance of the Court of Aides

THE FAILURE OF REFORM

Reading: Wright, pp. 33-40
Turgot, Letter to the King on Finance
Remonstrances of Parlement of Paris
Louis XVI, Reply to the Parlement of Paris
THE OVERTURN, MAY TO AUGUST 1789

“What then is the Third Estate? All; but an all that is fettered and oppressed. What would it be without the privileged order? It would be all; but free and flourishing. Nothing will go well without the Third Estate: everything would go considerably better without the two others.”
(Siéyès)

Read: Wright, pp. 41-51
Cahiers
Sieyès, What is the Third Estate?
Miot de Mélito, Memoirs

THE FALL OF THE BASTILLE TRIGGERS EVENTS
