Montana State University summer session cutlines

University of Montana–Missoula. Office of University Relations

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/newsreleases

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.
Cut A

ASTRONAUT—Frank Borman, a member of America's space team, emphasized the importance of the role of "man in space" to the aerospace workshop at MSU this summer. The workshop also included flight instruction, study of different aircraft and field trips to industry, a military airbase and a civilian airport. (Cyrile Van Duser photo)

Cut B

SCHOOL NEWSPAPER ADVISERS—Under a grant from the Newspaper Fund, Inc., of the Wall Street Journal, the MSU School of Journalism offered a three-week seminar in school publications. The seminar for high school journalism teachers and publications advisers covered reporting, editing, photography, journalism history, literature, principles and law. Edward B. Dugan, professor of journalism, was one of the lecturers for the workshop. (Cyrile Van Duser photo)

Cut C

BIOLOGICAL STATION—A unit of the MSU Summer Session is located on Yellow Bay of Flathead Lake. Students from throughout North America are attracted to the Biological Station each summer to conduct research and take advanced courses in the biological sciences. The students here have just checked a fish net in the bay and taken a water sample to study the plankton content. These students represent four states, Texas, New York, California and Ohio. (Cyrile Van Duser photo)
FAMILY OF SCIENTISTS—Dr. Charles Remington of the Yale University Department of Biology, his son, Eric, and wife, Jeanne, are spending the summer at the MSU Biological Station at Flathead Lake conducting research. Dr. and Mrs. Remington are studying the natural hybridization of birds and insects in isolated mountain groups in Montana. Their son is collecting and preparing birds for the Yale University Museum. (Cyrile Van Duser photo)

DRIVER EDUCATION—All high school driver training teachers must complete a course in driver education. Dr. John Urlaub, professor of safety education and driver training at the University of California, conducts a demonstration in stopping distance of a car traveling at given speeds for the benefit of his MSU Summer Session students. (Cyrile Van Duser photo)

PAINT YOUR WAGON—Summer Session activities in drama and music keep pace with activities throughout the year. The two departments work together to produce an annual summer musical—this year, "Paint Your Wagon." The production starred Marith Willis, drama student, and John Lester, MSU professor of music. (Cyrile Van Duser photo)