Natural Disaster

Britta Ameel

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/cutbank

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/cutbank/vol1/iss63/22

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in CutBank by an authorized editor of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mso.umt.edu.
Natural Disaster

me twelve hours the mountain shape shifting snow-ghost see God's vowels lilt with wind get this straight: no one died nothing was said my mouth said nothing thought avalanche upon avalanche split vibration cracks a snowfield my body deserves this burying spine crumple breakers snort the fall a whistle helmetless head maytags slopes the curve body apology circumspect my mouth says nothing breathes hardly even a wound nothing diamonds barrel down rain under say drowning that pressure leash to board to air open O day's salt temple

O circulate thrash a space for mouth spit or open mouth gravity rings liquid or air down up degree depending what did you do what can you do but open the mouth lie dilate pearl vertebrae circle in a dish diamond nerves blind my O body an O of steel breaks each thud a gasp a vowel of nothing eye to foot holy space for head my mouth please please keep me quiet me