mortifice

Carina Finn

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/cutbank

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation

Available at: https://scholarworks.umt.edu/cutbank/vol1/iss74/31

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in CutBank by an authorized editor of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mso.umt.edu.
MORTIFICE

there is a pin-tucked sleeve. it is a void.
the void is representative of the future tense.
there is a divergence which is a sweetheart neckline.
there is a power. the best we can hope for
is a body.

. . . the best we can hope for: now: dignity :: ceramic: cemetery: doll.

I have learned that the world is designed for living in.

it follows:

every action is a behavior,
a birdcage, inside of which one is always younger.

ribbon-wrapped bones collect white peals of laughter.
this is a symptom of the void which is the sleeve of the world.
everyone knows it knows what is inside of it and I am living in it licking marrow from the walls.

o, it is so glamorous!

to be a wreck of a body unbound.

I sew buttons to my wrists,

o, beautiful/edge

: a jam drop in cream : nothing : :