37 JOB RECRUITERS TO VISIT UNIVERSITY CAMPUS

MISSOULA--

A total of 37 recruiters already are scheduled to spend 44 days at the Graduate Placement Center for business and industrial recruiting on the University of Montana campus during the fall quarter. Seniors and graduate students will be interviewed for positions requiring professional training, according to Charles E. Hood, director of placement.

Only one of the 37 recruiters comes from headquarters in Montana, although in some cases graduates who accept positions with out-of-state firms or agencies will be assigned Montana locations.

The majority of the recruiters are looking for graduates in business administration, especially accounting. Many are also interested in graduates of the College of Arts and Sciences, as well as forestry, pharmacy, journalism and law.

Persons may obtain interview schedules from the Placement Center in room 133 of the Liberal Arts building.
